

Way Set Up for School Consolidations

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill setting up machinery for voluntary school district consolidation was introduced in the Arkansas Senate Thursday shortly before the General Assembly took its first weekend recess of the 1963 session.

The bill by Sens. Clarence Bell of Parkin and W. K. Ingram of West Memphis was designed to head off a legislative fight over consolidation.

Ingram said in a news release that there is "clear evidence" of a need for consolidation and he felt school patrons want leadership and not force in accomplishing this.

An example of force would be a bill introduced in the House Tuesday by Pulaski Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr. His bill would remove the bonus small districts get in state aid. Education officials say removal of the bonus would force small districts into short terms of consolidation.

The Bell-Ingram bill provides for creation of County School Study Commissions in counties with two or more school districts. (Only Scott County has a single district now.)

The study groups would prepare a comprehensive school reorganization plan which would be submitted to the state Board of Education for approval.

If the board approves the plan, 10 per cent of the voters in affected districts could petition for a special election to put the plan into effect. The plan could not be implemented unless it got a majority vote in each affected district.

The study commission, which would be formed with two members from each school board and two from the County Board of Education, would have two years in which to prepare the plan.

The plan would have to insure an adequate education for all children in grades one through 12. The state board would establish criteria to determine an adequate program.

Arkansas has not had a school district reorganization since 1949 when it was accomplished by an initiated act. At that time the number of districts was cut from more than 1,000 to just over 400.

Bell said the bill was introduced early so interested parties could study it and suggest amendments.

Each house passed only two bills in the first four days of the session. These were House Bill 1 ($369,600 for House expenses) and Senate Bill 1 ($168,650 for Senate expenses). Gov. Orval E. Faubus signed both bills in time for legislative payrolls to be met before adjournment Thursday.

The House will reconvene at noon Monday and the Senate at 1:15 p.m. Sessions are expected to be brief. Legislators are scheduled to begin a tour of the Little Rock Air Force base at 2 p.m.

Other Senate introductions Thursday included a bill by Sen. John O. Moore of Texarkana to eliminate the requirement of a jury trial when a person charged with first degree murder pleads guilty.

Moore would permit the judge to review the evidence and decide whether the prisoner should be sentenced to death or life imprisonment. Under existing law, a jury must hear the case as if there were no guilty plea.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton introduced a bill to remove a requirement that school board members must own property in the district.

The House received a proposed state constitutional amendment to reorganize county governments under five-member commissions. Power of the county judge would be reduced to executive duties.

Sevier County Rep. George W. Davis introduced the amendment. He said he made a similar proposal in 1961 but nothing came of it.

The House refused again Monday to bring three proposed states rights amendments to the federal constitution to a vote. It decided to consider them next Wednesday.

The vote will be on resolutions asking Congress to call a convention for proposing the amendments.

The amendments would create a Court of the Union with power to overrule the U.S. Supreme Court, take from the Supreme Court authority to rule in cases involving apportionment of state legislatures and give the legislatures power to force Congress to propose amendments.

Plant Dedicated at Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ark. (AP) — The new $225,000 plant of the Phillips-Van Heusen Corp. in Augusta was formally dedicated Thursday.

Company officials on hand for the dedication included Seymour Phillips of New York, president of the firm, Steward Green, also of New York, a vice president; Charles Myers of Brinkley, regional manager for Arkansas; and Charles Cooper of Augusta, manager of the new plant.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus attended a luncheon and the ribbon cutting ceremony at the plant.

Blackmail Goods Going to Castro

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.

ABOARD THE SHIRLEY LYKES EN ROUTE TO HAVANA (AP) — Sailing under the Red Cross flag, the ultramodern cargo liner Shirley Lykes today steamed toward Cuba with 7,000 tons of ransom supplies for Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The ship is expected to dock in Havana at mid-afternoon.

A Pan American World Airways plane is expected to fly to the Cuban capital with 10,000 pounds of cargo and return with another load of Cuban-Americans. It is understood the plane will await the ship's arrival before heading for Miami.

The Shirley Lykes sailed from Port Everglades Thursday night after loading 858 tons of supplies. This was added to cargo hatches bulging with 6,441 tons of food, drugs and medicine loaded at Baltimore.

The arrival of the freighter brings the value of the cargo delivered to Castro to about one-third of the $53 million promised him for release of the Bay of Pigs invaders. The freighter African Pilot delivered 3,500 tons of ransom goods to Cuba soon after Christmas. She returned to Florida with 922 relatives of liberated prisoners.

The Lykes is scheduled to sail for New Orleans after unloading. A question mark hung over the possibility that she would be permitted to take to the United States a new group of invader relatives, as refugees were hauled from Havana in the African Pilot's cargo decks.

The FEDERAL BUDGET

WORKING ON BUDGET — President Kennedy and records the three concluding paragraphs of his budget message which he sent to Congress Jan. 16. The "Federal Budget Chart," left, shows an estimate for fiscal 1964, with federal payments set at $122.5 billion and receipts set at $112.2. A deficit of $10.3 billion.

JFK to Visit in Italy and Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will make an "informal visit" to West Germany after visiting Italy later this year, the White House announced today. Stops in Italy and Germany will be the only ones made by Kennedy during his European visit, the announcement said. It had been thought likely earlier that Kennedy also might go to Paris to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle and possibly to London for meetings with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

It is expected that Kennedy will go to Western Europe in May or June. Mrs. Kennedy will accompany him to Italy. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said. Salinger said he did not know whether she will also go to Bonn. The Bonn trip was arranged at the invitation of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. This could well be the final official meeting of the President and the aging German leader inasmuch as Adenauer is expected to relinquish the chancellorship fairly soon. Informants had reported the plans for the Bonn visit before the White House announcement.

Additional Cash for River Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — An appropriation of $74,860,000 for flood control on the lower Mississippi River and its tributaries in the coming fiscal year was recommended to Congress today by President Kennedy. The amount compares with $73,504,000 appropriated last year. Involved are projects on the Mississippi River below Cape Girardeau, Mo., and on its principal tributaries. Also included is maintenance of a 12-foot navigation channel from Cairo, Ill., to the Gulf of Mexico. The appropriation would include these items: Construction — Mississippi levees, $2,580,000; channel improvements $26,500,000. Maintenance $22,000,000; examinations and surveys $25,000; surveys, gauges and observations $25,000.

Arkansas-connected Mississippi River construction projects include St. Francis Basin $4,019,000; Lower White River $830,000; Cache River $50,000; Lower Arkansas River $400,000.

Order of Police Is Again Robbed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For the fourth time in as many months burglars have robbed the same building. This time they took $450 from a safe. The building is the headquarters of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Man Killed in Truck Accident

PARIS, Ark. (AP) — Mott Appleton, 72, of Paris, was killed Thursday when he was struck by a milk truck making its morning delivery run about a half mile east of Paris on State Highway 22. Police said Greg Pfeifer of Paris, driver of the truck, said he did not see Appleton before the accident.

Missile Launched By Stiff Wind

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Jolted off course by a simulated blast from hurricane force winds, a Pershing artillery missile righted itself and flew to its target 200 miles away. The Army said the missile was tilted off course deliberately just after launching Thursday night and its guidance system snapped it back on its proper course. The Pershing scored its 38th success in 45 test launchings.

State Won't Push to Be a University

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas State College doesn't plan to push for university status during the 1963 legislative session, according to Craighead County legislators.

Sen. Doug Bradley said A-State supporters are not giving up their efforts but "We do not think it is timely at this session."

Reps. Norman Wimpy and Roscoe D. Brown also said they did not plan to introduce a bill for a name change this session.

ASC backers waged a drive for university status in 1959. It was passed in the House but defeated in the Senate. Two years ago, a similar proposal came up in the House and was defeated.

Bradley said that ASC is doing a "great deal of expansion of its physical plant and curriculum" which would place it in a better position to seek university status at a future legislative session.

In addition, the legislators said A-State did not want to introduce a name-change bill until the newly-created coordinating board for state colleges and the University of Arkansas finishes its survey of educational needs of the state.

Wimpy said the college feels that the board's report will back up the argument for the name change.

Bradley said that although ASC goes under the name of a college, "we still believe it is a university in fact."

Money for Watershed Is Granted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $278,000 grant to speed work on the Grady-Gould Watershed project in Lincoln, Jefferson and Desha counties, Ark. has been approved by the Agriculture Department, Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., announced Thursday.

Harris said the department also announced a $130,000 grant for work in the Ouachita National Forest.

The watershed grant was made under the Accelerated Public Works program, Harris said. The project, covering 46,000 acres in the three counties, is estimated to cost $1,701,000. The government will advance $658,194 of this, he added.

The grant approved Thursday will provide employment and speedup the anticipated completion date for the project, now set for 1964.

The Department also will advance planning funds as required for the Canal 18 Watershed project, covering 30,000 acres in Desha and Drew counties. The assistance will enable to project sponsors to develop work plans.

Delegate From China Jeered by Other Reds

By TOM OCHILTREE

BERLIN (AP) — Jeering, shouting Communists halted a speech by Red Chinese delegate Wu Hsiuchuan at the East German party congress today after Wu made a veiled attack on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's coexistence policies. Wu was shouted down after 30 minutes.

Khrushchev was not present to hear Wu assail "revisionists of the Tito clique" — the Chinese Communist way of criticizing Soviet leadership.

Smothering the Red Chinese, Khrushchev spent the morning at an East Berlin television factory. Throughout Wu's speech the 2,500 delegates and guests from 70 Communist parties stamped their feet, shouted and whistled to show their disapproval.

This performance clearly undermined the control Khrushchev has exerted over the European Communist parties in support of his line that communism must be spread by means short of all-out war.

It is Khrushchev's caution in a world commanded by nuclear weapons which has brought down scorn on his head from the Chinese Reds, who maintain that in Cuba he bowed to an American paper tiger.

Paul Verner, first secretary of the East Berlin Communist party, and chairman at today's session, rebuked the frozen-faced Chinese delegate for assailing fraternal Communist parties and guest delegates.

Such attacks, Verner said, are incompatible with relations which should exist between Marxist-Leninist parties.

He told Wu to stop such tactics. Several times Wu was stopped by shouts of "Fui!" — a favorite German jeer.

But he struggled on until the end of half an hour, then he stopped, with his words hardly heard. Only a few delegates applauded as he finished.

Since the opening of the party congress on Tuesday, Wu has had to listen to marathon speeches highlighted by attacks on his country's attitude on how communism should be spread.

The session this morning was his first opportunity to defend Mao Tse-tung and his policies. Wu went through the motions of supporting the general line of Communist policy on Germany and Berlin. He said his government supports the demand for conclusion of a German peace treaty and a solution of the West Berlin problem.

He read a letter of greeting from the Red Chinese party's Central Committee and party to the congress. They wished East Germany "even greater successes in building socialism."

Then he turned to the Yugoslavs, branded as Red heretics in Stalin's time but now accepted back into the fold by the Soviets. This is the first congress of the European Red bloc which the Yugoslavs have attended as full participants since the Stalin-Tito break in 1948.

Wu described the Yugoslavs as revisionists, an epithet meaning those who revise his gospel of Marx and Lenin to suit their own purposes. By implication, his charge was really directed at Khrushchev and his followers.

Cloud Bank Has Covered Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blanket of clouds warmed southern Arkansas this morning while the northern portion of the state shivered under clear skies. Overcast lows in the south ranged from the high 30s to the high 40s. In the north, lows in the low 20s to the low 30s were recorded.

Some light rain was expected in the southern portion tonight, and the Weather Bureau said it would be much colder in the north. The forecast for Saturday is partly cloudy and quite cold. High temperatures today were expected to range from 50 to 60, with low temperatures tonight expected to be around 24 north to 36 south.

A cold air mass was expected to enter the state from the east late tonight, bringing cold weather expected to persist through the middle of next week.

State Home Loans Total $18 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock regional office of the Veterans Administration announced Thursday home loans in the state in 1962 totaled almost $18 million. Henry G. Moore, manager, said conventional lenders made 1,035 loans totaling $12,970,730 and the VA made 471 direct loans totaling $4,871,895. The direct loans were made in rural areas where conventional financing was not available, he said.

Engineers to Honor Paul Klipsch

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Paul Klipsch of Hope, developer of an important electronic speaker, will be made a fellow of the Arkansas section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers tonight in a ceremony in Little Rock.

The honor is for his contributions to electrical reproduction of sound. His firm, Klipsch and Associates, makes the Klipschorn in its Hope plant.

Klipsch moved to Hope as head of the instrumental division of Southwestern Proving Grounds near Hope during World War II. He was a major. After the war, he remained in Hope and went into private business. He is a lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve.

No Decision on Georgia Vote Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Months may pass before the Supreme Court rules on the first case based on its historic decision that federal courts may act when citizens feel their votes are being diluted by state machinery.

The case involves Georgia's controversial county-unit primary system. It was taken under advisement by the high tribunal Thursday after Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy argued the system deprives citizens of their constitutional rights.

The appeal by the Georgia Democratic party to the Supreme Court is the first to be heard since the court, in a landmark Tennessee case last March, ruled that federal courts are empowered to consider complaints of arbitrary apportionment by states.

Kennedy — in his first appearance before the Supreme Court or any court — urged the court to uphold the ruling of a three-judge panel which decided last year that the county-unit system is unconstitutional.

Such a voting system, Kennedy contended, produces gross and arbitrary discrimination against city voters by giving undue weight to the votes from sparsely populated rural counties.

But while urging the Supreme Court to uphold the ruling, Kennedy emphasized the federal government is not asking the court to suggest a substitute. "For the Supreme Court to set up a standard for various states is impossible," the attorney general said. "The people of the states know their background and problems. As for Georgia, we feel that as men of good will the legislators will pass a law that is fair."

Kennedy said it is the duty of the United States to see that the right of franchise is restored in Georgia.

Arguing for the county-unit system and urging reversal of the lower court ruling, B. D. Murphy, a Georgia deputy assistant attorney general, said the system is "valid and represents the proper exercise of legislative power by a state."

Food Poisoning Hits 400 Students

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Four hundred children in the Alford School District south of here have been stricken with food poisoning and hospitals are jammed. One hospital has 40 children bedded in a corridor. The food poisoning is believed to have been caused by turkey dressing prepared in the district's central kitchen and distributed Thursday to nine grade schools. Dr. Jack Bristow of the County Health Department said a sample taken from a lunch indicates the poisoning is not likely to cause death. The kitchen was closed until it can be inspected to determine specifically what caused the poisoning.

Bad Weather Pattern Week Ago Duplicated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A snowstorm and subzero cold swept into Montana and across northern Midwest regions today, duplicating the severe weather pattern of a week ago.

The fresh surge of arctic air came after only a brief respite from nearly a week of frigid weather in most of the Midwest. Blizzard conditions hit areas in Montana. Strong northerly winds intensified the cold and caused much drifting of snow in some sections.

The blowing snow halted traffic on highways in much of central and southeastern Montana. Amounts measured a half-foot in western mountain sections. Temperatures which climbed barely above zero in nearly a week in some northern Midwest areas dropped sharply as the new mass of air swept across the Dakotas into Minnesota and northern Nebraska.

Much colder weather was in prospect for much of the midcontinent, with the zero zone extending from the northern Rockies southeastward into northern Texas and eastward across the upper Great Lakes and Mississippi Valley.

The mercury dropped nearly 15 degrees in a few hours in International Falls, Minn., as the arctic air fanned across the Canadian border. It reached nearly 30 below zero. Readings were near 20 below in much of North Dakota while subzero cold covered most of Montana.

Blowing snow created hazardous driving conditions in western Nebraska and south Dakota and northwest across Montana. Snow also fell in most of Upper Michigan and Wisconsin southward across extreme northern Illinois and northeastern Iowa.

Only other cold area was northern Maine, with temperatures near zero.

Drizzle, rain and fog dampened and shrouded areas from southeastern Texas eastward across the Gulf coastal states and into Georgia and the Carolinas. Thunderstorms rumbled across southwestern Louisiana.

Fog and drizzle also hit coastal sections of the Far West. Temperatures in most of the Far West were near normal but they were a little below normal in sections of the Southwest. A week of unseasonable cold has caused millions of dollars damage to citrus and vegetable crops in California. Agricultural authorities said the losses will be the heaviest since 1948.

100 Die in Korea Ferry Accident

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — A coastal ferry with an estimated 80 to 100 Koreans aboard capsized in a gale off Korea's southwest coast today. One man was reported rescued. National police said the ferry, the 34-ton Yun-ho, went down while making the 15-mile run from the port of Hainam to Mokpo and that nine bodies were recovered.

The police said all aboard were feared drowned, but a dispatch from Mokpo to the Seoul Shin Moon said Suh Chong-soo, 24, had been rescued from the stormy sea.

Police said the ferry apparently was hit by sudden gales around noon and sank quickly about four miles southwest of Mokpo, which is 200 miles south of Seoul.

Thought Railway Was a Highway

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A woman motorist drove half a mile on a railroad track, then got stuck in a switch and delayed a 100-car freight train.

On the job application blank was the question: "Have you ever been arrested?" The applicant put "No."
The next question was "Why?"—meant for those who had been arrested. Not realizing this, the applicant put down, "Never caught."

DOROTHY DIX

Is Her Conscience Working Overtime?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Though only 18 I've been shouldered with responsibilities ever since I can remember. As a consequence I've had to make my own decisions — so far they've been wise. Now I'm faced with one that's got me stymied. A boy whom I've known many years and dated steadily for three, asked me to marry him. I refused, giving as my reason that I wished to finish my education (I'm now a senior in high and hope to go on to college). Another reason which I didn't mention was that his family and I just can't get along.

After much arguing, he proposed that I wear his engagement ring. Again I said "No." He sent it anyway. I promptly sent it back by way of his mother. After that, silence.

Now only a few days ago, this boy wrote again proposing marriage. Once more, I turned him down. From what I hear he has lost all ambition, sits around moping and gives the general impression of my ruining his life. Maybe I am and this worries me.

I just don't feel right in having said, "No." But how could it be wrong when I feel as I do? Also if the truth must be told, I fear marriage. Five of my brothers and sisters are divorced. If I let myself be talked into marrying this boy, I'm afraid I would wind up in the divorce courts too. When I marry I want it to be for keeps. Please help me. —Puzzled too.

Dear Puzzled: You are right to say no to this weakling. If he mopes, it is only to create the impression that you, not he, is at fault. You have your life to lead. If he should have his way you would wind up hating him because he prevented you from getting that education. Had he your good at heart he would be willing to wait. As it is, he acts like a cry-baby who can't have the candy he wants. Thank the Lord that your guardian angel warned you to think twice. At 18 the whole wonderful world lies ahead of you. An education will equip you to make the most of it.

Have you decided upon what you want to do and be? Are you channeling your studies toward your goal? Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet "Guidance of Gracious Living."

Dear Helen: I have been in love with a girl for the past six months. My mother does not want me to marry her. Maybe because she has two children and is a little older than me. But that makes no difference. Now I'm in the Army and it's hard to send or receive mail — all of which just about drive me nuts for my girl. May I think I no longer care. What ever shall I do? — Heartbroken Soldier

Dear Heartbroken: Contrary to your belief, letters finally reach their destination. Tell your girl that yours may be slow in reaching her but not to stop believing in you. Mothers seldom think the girls their sons marry worthy of

DR. PRUITT'S BODY

THE STORY: The security officer explain the check-out system and security setup at the laboratory of the Magnetic company. He believes it is foolproof, but obviously it is not and Matt Bacon is trying to find how the murdered Dr. Pruitt was checked out after the apparent time of the murder.

XI

Matt glanced at the wall clock. It was 11 minutes after five. It would take him a minute to walk to the time office and then he'd punch out at about the same time Dr. Pruitt's ticket was punched on the day he disappeared.

"You have the same crew at the gate every day?" Matt asked the security officer.

"Same crew, unless somebody's sick, or something," said the cop. "Security men are on the gates, and the Time Office checks the records."

Matt went out the door. In spite of the fact that Clague and his men believed the check-out system was fool-proof, someone apparently had tampered with it five days before.

The South Gate Time Office was crowded with men leaving work. There were three clocks and their bells rang with a steady rhythm. Ahead of Matt was Cliff Johnson, the junior executive in charge of the Appliance Division and the next door neighbor of Dr. Chester Pruitt. Matt recalled that Johnson usually had left at the same time Pruitt did.

The cards were in racks. Each card was numbered and carried the employee's name. Matt had been assigned no. 812, and his card was in rack 2.

A uniformed security officer stood at one end of the card racks lazily watching the men pull their cards and walk to one of the busy clocks. Moving so that his back was to the cop, Matt found his own card with his right hand, as his left hand deftly pulled two other cards from their slots on the rack with his left.

Palming his own card, he dropped it into his pocket, then he fished the other two cards together, noting that they were exactly the same size.

Matt turned and stepped to the end of the line that was moving through the middle gate.

He put the two cards in the clock. The bell didn't ring. Instead, a raucous buzzer sounded.

The cop on the gate reached out and grabbed his arm.

"What are you trying to do, Bud?"

Matt gave the officer an innocent smile. "I'll give you two guesses," he said.

The security officer held up Matt's hand containing the two time cards.

"You ought to know better'n that. How long you worked here, Bud?" Up and down the line the cadence of bells stopped.

"Okay. Okay. I tried to pull something and couldn't get by with it. Call Clague and he'll explain everything."

"You bet we'll call him. But we want to have a little chat with you first." The cop turned and beckoned toward another officer who was standing beyond the gates, apparently watching the men after they punched. "Take over a minute, pal."

Holding the two cards in one hand and Matt's arm with the other, he led the way through a doorway at the end of the row of turnstiles.

It was a little office where three men were working over time sheets. "Siddown," said the cop, pointing to a chair beside a vacant desk.

As Matt sat, the officer read the names on the cards. "Bernard, Fred, and Brownlee, M. J. Who are you, Bud? Bernard or Brownlee?"

"Call Clague," Matt said. "What you tryin' to pull?" said the cop.

"Research," said Matt. "You've researched yourself right out of a job, Mr. Bernard, or Mr. Brownlee, whatever your name is."

The door opened and another cop came in, leading red Bernard, the small, round-eyed man that Matt had met in the Appliance Building early in the afternoon. "This guy says his card's missing. Fairview," said the cop. "You wanna handle it? I've gotta tend to the gate."

"Okay. Siddown," Fairview said to Bernard.

"It's from nowhere," said Bernard. "I put the ticket in the rack when I came to work."

"Whatcha name?" asked Officer Fairview.

"Fred Bernard," said the man. He pointed to the badge he wore. Fairview squinted at the badge. Then he looked at Bernard's card he held in his hand. Turning, he walked over to Matt and pulled back his coat. "Where's your badge?" he demanded.

Plant Wages Higher in Past Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today factory workers wound up 1962 at the highest level of hourly and weekly earnings in history.

Harold Goldstein, assistant labor statistics commissioner, told a news conference, however, the figures represented only small pay gains over the calendar year and amounted to no increase in real earnings when balanced against 1962 living cost increases.

Goldstein and a panel of labor statistics experts reported that average hourly factory worker earnings were $2.42 in December, a record but only a penny higher than the weekly earnings figure in November and only four cents higher than the $2.38 average in December 1961. The average factory work week increased slightly to 40.5 hours in December from 40.4 hours in November.

Today's report, amplifying the totals, showed the number of workers on nonfarm payrolls rose by about 300,000 in December to 56.5 million, in line with seasonal expectations.

Employment dropped seasonally in December by 270,000 in construction and 140,000 in manufacturing, mainly in the soft goods industries. About 20,000 of the latter decline was due to newspaper strikes in New York and Cleveland.

Goldstein said the over-all job picture improved considerably in the first half of 1962 but then leveled off and failed to improve during the second half of the year.

"Research," said Matt. "You've researched yourself right out of a job, Mr. Bernard, or Mr. Brownlee, whatever your name is."

Cincinnati Wins But It Wasn't Easy

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

I took 5 years, 31 minutes and 27 seconds, but Cincinnati finally found a way to beat Bradley at Peoria, Ill.

The top-ranked Bearcats simply put a cap on the Bradley basket, holding the Braves scoreless from the field over the final 8 minutes and 33 seconds Thursday night and extended their winning streak to 32 games with a 52-46 triumph.

The victory ended a five-year period of frustration for the Bearcats, who had been unable to win a basketball game in the Braves' league since the 1956-57 season and haven't been beaten anywhere since a 70-68 overtime loss at Peoria, Jan. 10, last year.

In the only other major games on a light college basketball program, fourth-ranked Arizona State brought its record to 15-1 with a 59-47 Western Athletic Conference triumph over New Mexico. Wyoming whipped Arizona 84-72 in another WAC game, Georgia ripped Florida State 90-76 and Syracuse defeated Colgate 65-57.

But the big show was at Peoria, where a standing room only crowd of about 8,000 jammed Robertson Field House and watched a see-saw struggle between the two Missouri Valley Conference teams until Lavern Tarr's basket gave Bradley a 44-44 tie after 31:27 had ticked off the clock.

The basket closed.

Two field goals by Tom Thacker, one by George Wilson and a pair of foul shots gave Cincinnati the points it needed for the victory, an unblemished 4-0 MVC record, a 14-0 mark this season and the sweet taste of revenge.

Things We Could All Do Without

Bus drivers who start and stop their vehicles as if they were polo ponies. Guys who grab your seat when you get up to give it to a little old lady. All one-way streets that go north when you want to go south.

Apartment house neighbors collecting for charitable causes who ring your doorbell just as you finally get the kid to bed. People at cocktail parties who insist on telling you why JFK is doing a great job. People at cocktail parties who insist on telling you why JFK is doing a lousy job.

Junior Boys Win But Girls Lose at Emmet

At Emmet's Invitational tournament last night Hope split a pair of games with the Junior Girls falling 30 to 20 to Emmet and the Junior Boys crushed Cale 46 to 25.

Hope's young ladies had it tough from the start, trailing 8-2 at the quarter and 17 to 7 at the half. But the girls stayed with the Emmet ladies in the third period but were to far behind. Emmet's Dougan made 23 points while Becky Lewis was high for Hope with 10.

In the 46 to 25 elimination of Cale the Bobkittens started slow and trailed 10-9 at the quarter. They really took the lead by half-time the score being 20-15. They continued the bombardment and led 40-17 at the end of three. Dennis Ramsey made 11 for the locals; Watkins and May 10 each, Parris 4, McGill and Turner 3 each, Thompson and Howel 2 and Samuels 1.

The Bobkittens have to forfeit the tournament finals because of a conference game at Magnolia Saturday night. The games originally scheduled with Guernsey have been cancelled because of the Saratoga tournament.

Highlights on TV During Next Week

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's menu during the next seven days will be varied—ranging from bits from old movies to an Edie Adams comedy half hour, modern as today's newspaper.

The week's most promising offerings shape up like this:
Sunday: An adaptation of "College Bowl" called "Alumni Fun," with old grads answering the questions—on ABC, premiering Sunday, 4:40-5 p.m. (EST).
"Here's Edie," another in the blonde singer's series, will be seen on the same network later (9:30-10).

There is also a "Dinah Shore Show" on NBC (10-11) co-starring pianists Peter Nero, Liberace, and big Tiny Lint.

On Tuesday, Jack Benny (CBS, 9:30-10 p.m.) plays host to Peter Lorre.

Lauren Bacall will make her debut on a variety show Wednesday night as Perry Como's guest star (NBC, 9-10).
"The World of Benny Goodman" is the NBC special on Thursday (8:30-9:30).

Bids Soon on $10 Million Millwood Job

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Army Engineers said today bids will be invited soon on a $10 million contract to build a spillway and complete the embankment for the new Millwood Dam on Little River in southwestern Arkansas.

The project will be advertised Jan. 29 and bids probably will be opened about March 1.

It will be the biggest contract so far on the Millwood project. Most of the work so far has involved preliminary construction and the biggest contract previously awarded was $2 million for first-stage construction on the embankment and excavation for the spillway.

The dam and spillway will be 18,650 feet long. Total cost of the reservoir project is $55.7 million. Engineers said a total of $20 million in contracts would be let this year for work on the project.

Gag Slapped on Star Pro Grid Tackle

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Alex Karras, star tackle of the Detroit Lions, had his foot pulled out of his mouth, and a gag slapped on it, today.

Karras, who blurted out on a television show Wednesday that he had bet on games—without explaining that he meant he bet "a pack of cigarettes or a couple of cigars"—spent two long question and answer sessions with National Football league Commissioner Pete Rozelle here Thursday.

Karras emerged glum and tight-lipped, and flew back to Detroit, where he said: "I'm under strict orders not to do any more talking."

The NFL had no comment, either. Rozelle has said he will have a statement on the current investigation of betting rumors when it is completed.

A new name popped into the picture late Thursday, with a report in the Miami (Fla.) Herald that Carroll Rosenbloom, the owner of the Baltimore Colts, has been questioned about betting on his own team, and denied it.

The Herald said Rosenbloom's lawyer, Jerome Doyle, confirmed in New York that the owner had been questioned.

Karras came to New York to discuss his television show remarks, which stirred up the betting probe all over again. With him was teammate Wayne Walker, who got off with a 10-minute lecture from the NFL commissioner.

Rozelle could let Karras off with the stern lecture, which clearly shook up the big star, or slap him with a fine, a suspension or even throw him out of the league.

Walker, a linebacker and place kicker, got off lightly. He had admitted that he has met some persons of shady character, but insisted he never discussed football with them or made a bet.

CHEVROLET...the Quality truck!

WALK AROUND IT. SEE THE DIFFERENCES.

Start at the rear of this Fleetside pickup. Grab the tailgate and pull hard. No give. Two wedge latches keep it tight. Now unfasten them and let down the gate. Jump up and down on it. Does it sag? Notice how the chains are wrapped in rubber so they won't rattle or mar paint.

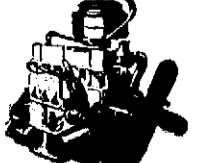

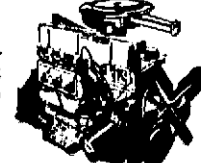

Now look at the lower side panels. Two walls. You might dent the inside one but it won't show through. The floor will never rust. It's select wood, not metal.

Now please sit in the cab a minute. Comfortable? It also is double walled and the roof is insulated. Let's start 'er up and look for a washboard road. Chevrolet coil-spring suspensions fight road shock better than other types, good for the truck, load and the driver.

There are other things. But you can see why this is a truck that does a job without a lot of pampering. It's built right. Which is why it's usually worth more at trade-in. When would you like us to deliver it?
